ManageEngine to Host User Conferences in New York and San Francisco

Conferences Will Feature Leading Industry Analysts, Customer-Delivered Case Studies, Product Training and Free Software

AUSTIN, TX--(Marketwire - March 2, 2011) - ManageEngine, makers of a globally renowned suite of cost effective network, systems, applications and security management software solutions, today announced the company's first North American user conferences, convening in New York March 22-23 and San Francisco March 29-30. Both events will be packed with educational and entertaining keynotes by noted industry analysts, Eveline Oehrlich, principal analyst at independent research firm Forrester Research, Inc.; and Dennis Drogseth, vice president, Enterprise Management Associates (EMA); as well as end-user presented case studies; technology demonstrations and trainings conducted by ManageEngine product experts; and ample opportunity for the exchange of best practices among IT professionals.

Both the New York and San Francisco conferences are organized in the same way, with the first day focused on analyst presentations and customer-presented case studies. The second day will be devoted to technology demonstrations and product trainings.

The conference's $299 registration fee is all-inclusive, including the ManageEngine product training and certification, normally a $1,500 investment; and a one year license for any ManageEngine application, a $1,000 value.

"Our first U.S. customer conferences mark a milestone in the continued growth of ManageEngine and we're excited to be sharing expertise with IT professionals from across the country," said Raj Sabhlok, president, ManageEngine. "We've had great success at our European user conferences and now bring a very interactive experience to the U.S. Attendees will be exposed to the latest strategies in, and get hands-on experience with, technology for managing traditional, virtual and cloud-based environments."

The New York user conference will take place at The Park Central Hotel on March 22 - 23, 2011. The San Francisco conference occurs at The Marriot Courtyard -Downtown on March 29 - 30, 2011.
