

Colliers International monitors the login activities of its employees using ADAudit Plus

About the Organization

Colliers International is a global leader in real estate services such as consulting, landlord and tenant representation, property and asset management, urban planning, and more. Since its inception, Colliers International has shown consistent growth with a proven track record of creating value for its shareholders.

We were in need of a solution to closely monitor the logons of our users. ADAudit Plus had numerous reports on logon and logoff activities, which gave us visibility on even the minutest of details. The reports, in tandem with the alerts, form a powerful combo, making our jobs very easy.

Luthfur Rahman,

IT security admin of Colliers International.

Challenges

Dealing with high-value real estate means that Colliers International has to store a lot of important documents belonging to its customers. The business' management board wanted to avoid network security lapses at any cost, as even a small loophole could have a catastrophic impact on their business. After discussions with their IT security team, Colliers International decided to deploy strict procedures to actively monitor user activities—specifically, their logons. Because of the innumerable user accounts within the organization, manually monitoring them each individually was out of the question. What they were looking for was software that could monitor the logon activities of users, thereby boosting their network's security.

Solution

After getting in touch with ManageEngine's local reseller, Luthfur Rahman, the IT security admin of Colliers International's London office experienced a hands-on session of ADAudit Plus. Later, when prompted on what features of ADAudit Plus ticked the right boxes in their list, Rahman said, "We were in need of a solution to closely monitor the logons of our users. ADAudit Plus had numerous reports on logon and logoff activities, which gave us visibility on even the minutest of details. The reports, in tandem with the alerts, form a powerful combo, making our jobs very easy."

Rahman said that their IT security team was particularly captivated by the file auditing capabilities of ADAudit Plus. Ready-made reports provided information on failed attempts to delete files as well as folder permission changes, which were both essential for their internal audits.

When asked about the pricing of ADAudit Plus against the competition, Rahman said, "We were pleasantly surprised by the price at which ManageEngine pitches their products. Apart from logon auditing, the additional features that ADAudit Plus offered were too good for us to resist."
