Reports spotlight

Ten must-have Exchange reports available in Exchange Reporter Plus:

- Permissions assigned to each mailbox
- OWA logon details
- ActiveSync mail requests
- Mail traffic summary
- Distribution list members
- Public folder traffic
- Mailbox content (subject and body)
- Mail sent to and received from specific domains
- Mailbox database and size growth
- Non-owner mailbox activities

We needed granular reporting on Exchange to get a better understanding of the environment itself, so that we could begin to change various projects for this core service use. Exchange Reporter Plus gave all this—without having to depend on PowerShell scripting.

Shannon Rubin,

IBTS (Institute for Building Technology and Safety)

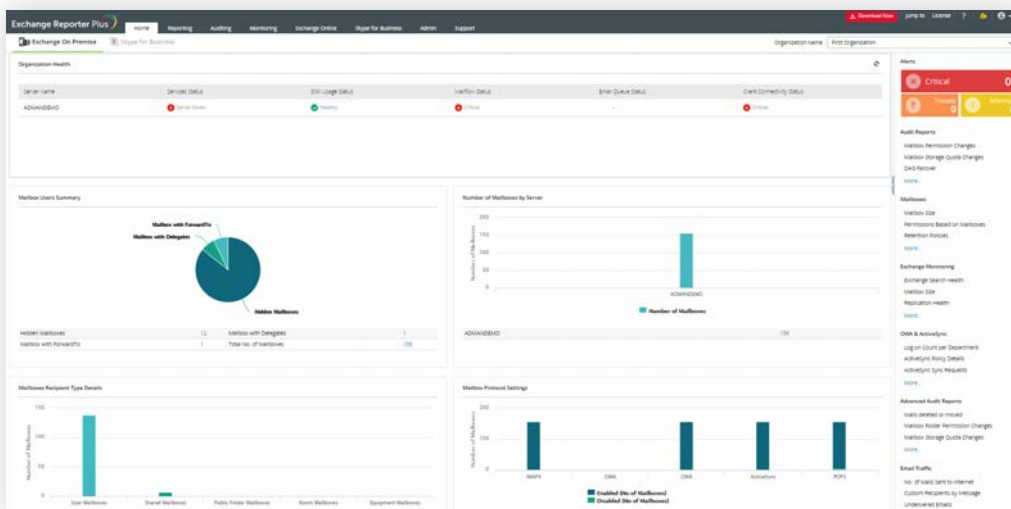

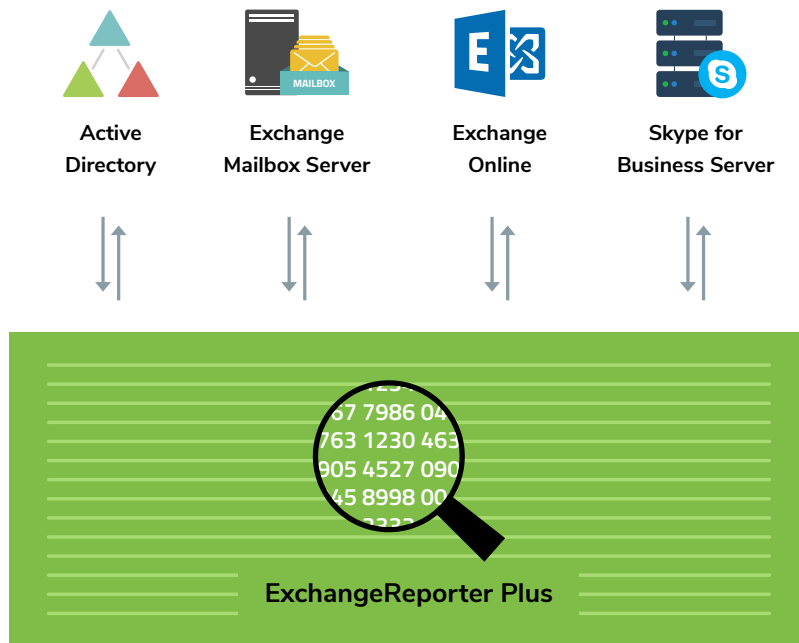

Finding out mailbox sizes was very cumbersome and difficult. Exchange Reporter Plus was the only solution that gave us mailbox size and group information within our budget.

Renee Davis,

Chief information officer at Life Management Center, Florida

How does it work?

Exchange Reporter Plus scours Exchange Server, Exchange Online, Active Directory, and Skype for Business servers to collect data through scheduled tasks. When a user runs a report in Exchange Reporter Plus, the relevant information is fetched from the data stored in the product databases and presented neatly in the form of a table and graph. Auditing is performed in real-time; Exchange Reporter Plus fetches data or raises alerts as soon as events are captured in the domain controller and Exchange server.
